National Engineer Testifies.

States His Catarrh and Kidney Medicine Tanlac in Short Time.

Very few people appreciate the responsibility that rests upon a locomotive engineer, he is one of those men who has the safety of many lives in his hands every day and performs his duty just as calmly as if it was just the ordinary kind of work.

Arthur Montgomery, who resides at 206 Pattie ave., Wichita, Kan., has for many years run an engine on the St. Louis and San-Francisco railroad, and from his years of experience as an engineer, is in a position to tell others of the daily strain the job has on a man's whole system. He said:

"I have for years been troubled with catarrh of my head, nose, Entered at the postoffice at Baxter Springs, as second class mail throat and stomach. My kidneys became affected several months ago, either brought about by my Trade where you live, or live stomach or from the jar which I have daily while running my en-Bob Harvey caught a shoplifter gine. By strenuous work the United States has managed to keep out thus far, although our prestige has suffered to a degree.

We cannot afford to be drawn into it through the officious meddling of a gang of irresponsible American notoriety seekers who persist in poking their noses in the European face.

Europe will settle its war in its own way when the right time comes. In the mean time let the government insist that the American nose be kept at home.

Defectives at Home.

While the country in general is considering "what to do with our defectives," it might be well strictly to their own affairs. But for each community to look into we are cursed with a minority the matter of the defectives at Every community has its own defectives. They flourish in all walks of life. If they are not defective in one thing they are in another and a tolerant and passive spirit on the part of the pubof the European entanglements lic only encourages them in their offensive acts.

In most country towns and small citites perhaps the greatest and most destructive offender is the "character assassin."

With such people no woman or girl, regardless of her purity, is immune. When these character assassins get together they pick the women to pieces bit by bit, analyze their "good points" as they would those of a horse, and revel in the imaginations of a warped brain degraded and besmirched with lust.

Nine tenths of the stories we hear of various women spring from just such sources-stories without a grain of foundation, conceived in a mind of evil and spread by the tongue of infamy.

Let us look at the defectives at home. They may be few in number, but they are a menace wherever they exist and should be curbed with a hand of iron
